

ALI STINSON

Executive Vice President, Partner
Clear Concepts Consulting Group

ABOUT

Ali joined Clear Concepts in 2007. Prior to that, she spent time working in management consulting and more than 10 years working for large technology firms. She brings deep expertise in technology implementation and process improvement to the Clear Concepts team. Ali has a BA from Furman University and an MBA from Georgia State.

Her client work is primary focused on problem solving. She loves helping clients map their current processes and highlight bottlenecks and inefficiencies. The end goal is to use either new or existing technologies and infrastructure to enhance processes – all while ensuring little to no money is spent. Ali also trains hiring managers on process and tech, develops and delivers employee education, creates new programs for recruitment and retention, does compliance work and more. She loves a good challenge!

In her free time, Ali enjoys playing tennis and reading. She's on an ALTA tennis team and in a neighborhood book club. She and her husband love walking their little dog around the neighborhood and checking in on all the neighbors, whom they routinely invite to try new restaurants or hang out at the pool and BBQ on the weekends. Ali says this is a rather easy sales job - so eating is a pretty big hobby for her too!
